

The future belongs to gluing

20 November 2010

EISENMANN AG, a leading manufacturer of paint finishing systems for the automotive industry, acquired a majority stake in intec Bielenberg GmbH & Co. KG, Erftstadt near Cologne, Germany.

Intec is a manufacturer of adhesive systems used in the frame and body construction of the automotive industry. Apart from the technological partnership Eisenmann offers intec a global network with sales and service offices.

The debt-free company has a workforce exceeding 50 employees and supplies to leading manufacturers of the automotive industry. The gluing technology is predicted to have an interesting future due to lightweight construction requirements. Mr. J. Bielenberg, the managing owner of intec, decided in favor of the Eisenmann group as partner to be able to use the interesting market opportunities for the further development of the company.

InterFinanz GmbH advised the seller on his strategic considerations and led the negotiations.
